EN 361:2002

- Extremely flexible adjustable straps that are guided through the thin but efficient hip pad
- Due to its asymmetrical shape, the pad prevents the buckle from applying pressure to the abdominal area
- Ergonomic retaining eyelets fit perfectly on the hips without disturbing the wearer when folded in
- To use them, they are folded over, after which they hold their position after snapping into place
- The innovative OKTALOCK click buckles contain adjustment elements that reduce the unintentional loosening of the strap and make readjustment during work unnecessary
- Areas of application: Full-body harness for industry and crafts Further technical information:
- Subject to audit: Yes
